Why are secondhand shipping containers so popular in South Africa?

This has been a world-wide phenomenon with most shipping containers now manufactured in China. Secondhand containers are a hot commodity when they reach the end of their shipping life. In South Africa there is an informal grading system which attempts to categorise these containers according to their cosmetic appearance.

Are secondhand containers a hot commodity in South Africa?

Secondhand containers are a hot commodity when they reach the end of their shipping life. In South Africa there is an informal grading system which attempts to categorise these containers according to their cosmetic appearance. Unfortunately this is not very scientific and is not consistent across suppliers.
